Class Poem:

Remember Me When I Am Gone Away

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of your future that you planned·
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile,
Than that you should remember and be sad.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS '40

"Just broke from school, pert, imprudent and raw,
Expert in Latin, more expert in jaw."

OUR FRESHMAN YEAR

September 6, 1936 was a glorious epoch in the history of Lowellville High School, for it was on this day that the largest class ever to graduate from Lowellville began its four year career.

A few days after school commenced, we selected class officers to govern us and to safeguard our honor and prestige. They were: President, Robert Jones; Vice-President, Frank Carchedi; Secretary, Ed Galey; and Treasurer, James Hall. As class advisor we elected Mr. Demi. Although the school year went by without an occasion for a class meeting, our selected leaders were ever ready for an eventualities that might have evolved.

The early days of our Freshman year were of gloom and grief. We found ourselves in a peculiar environment, and it was no easy task to orientate ourselves to new surroundings. Our upper classmates looked down upon us with a scornful air; in places of public activities, we were shunned as though contaminated with leprosy; and to venture outside of our segregated spot was a hazardous risk. This outrageous treatment culminated in the Freshman party when we were subjected to the most humiliating treatment.

These deplorable conditions, however, were only temporary. Steadily we became conscious of our importance and inalienable rights. The Freshman party was the turning point of our high school history. From that day on, our progress in all fields was upward. We discovered some unknown talents. In James Caldwell and Venanz Iudiciani, the class contributed two of the best football players ever to enter the portals of the high school. Both boys earned letters in their Freshman year —a feat rarely accomplished. Scholastically, too, we excelled. In the county scholarship tests, two of our classmates, Robert Jones and Alberta Durbin, won first place in General Science and English respectively—the only two representatives from Lowellville to win honors that year.

Little wonder our upper classmates no longer showed disrespect for us, but looked upon our rapid ascension with alarming fear. Our feats had proved that we were competitors with whom to be dealt. We finished the year with our spirit unconquered, and optimistically prepared to enter our second year in high school.

OUR SOPHOMORE YEAR

We entered our Sophomore year experienced and fully acquainted and accustomed with high school life. Election of class officers was soon held, and apparently the class had not regretted its choices of the former year, for three of the old officers (Frank Carchedi, Ed Galey, and James Hall) retained their posts. Paul Centofante was the newly elected president. As class advisor we chose Mr. Reed. Again we were disappointed by going through another year without an occasion for a class meeting.

During this year we distinguished ourselves in different fields. Five of our boys: Hugh Boyle, Frank Carchedi, James Caldwell, Robert Jones, and Eddy Primavera became members of the Excelsior Club. In Athletics, too, several of our boys were eminent. Scholastic honors went to Robert Jones whose biological knowledge won him a place in the county scholarship team.

The girls were also doing their share. The Social Dancing Club to stimulate dancing interest was started by girl members from our class. In high school basketball, our girls were well represented. Out of twelve girls who received letters, six of them were from our class: Pearl Derenzo, Julia Coppola, Mary Faraglia, Nadine Jones, Jeanne Mentzer, and Anita Pallozzi. We are certain that if the Girls' Basketball had not been discontinued, these girls would have made a name for themselves. The honor of representing our high school at the N. E. O. Basketball Tournament was bestowed upon a young lady from our class, Elizabeth DeLullo.

As a whole, our second year had not been as exciting as the first. However, it was during this year that the clouds which were to make our Junior year the most controversial of our history gathered. Those who could perceive things saw the development of two main factions with principles directly opposite. The cause for these developments themselves were deep-rooted and were to be traced back to our earlier history. The outbreak of the storm, however, was delayed. It was destined for our Junior year to suffer the inevitable consequences.

OUR JUNIOR YEAR

Starting our Junior year, we wasted no time in electing class officers. Paul Centofante was re-elected President; other officers were: Vive-President, Robert Jones; Secretary, James Hall; and Treasurer, James Caldwell. Mr. Metzger was the class advisor. Although the girls made up the mapority of the class, their attempt to elect a girl officer was frustrated for the third successive year.

During this year our President, yielding to the pressure of public demand, began calling meetings. Once meetings were called, many argumentative issues came up. In many of these controversies, ardent leaders attacked each other's policies with passionate eloquence; but those conflicts in principles did not deter the advancement of our class activities. In fact, different points of view were advantageous, for they eliminated the danger of indifference, and gave us a sample of conducting meetings according to parliamentary law.

Near the end of the year, in view of our financial distress, there was grave concern as to whether or not we were able to give the annual Junior-Senior Banquet. The defiant motto, "A hot dog and Pepsi Cola or nothing," could be heard uttered boldly to the Seniors. However, in the end realizing that next year would be our turn, we provided enough funds to be able to sponsor a great banquet. Anita Pallozzi was chosen Prom-Queen of the affair.

During the Junior year, we again had scholastic honors; and we held undisputable possession of the athletic honors. Frank Carchedi, by winning first place in American History in the county scholarship tests, made it the third consecutive year in which at least one of our classmates won the honor. In athletics we proved our worth by contributing eight men to the starting line-up in football. We also won the interclass basketball championship by a humiliating victory over the Senior boys. In baseball, Andy Susany's steady pitching arm was a priceless factor.

OUR SENIOR YEAR

We came back the next year with a strong determination to make our last year the most successful. After a most bitterly fought contest, the following were elected class officers: President, Frank Carchedi; Vice-President, Paul Centofante; Secretary, Anita Pallozzi; and Treasurer, John DeMarsh. For the first time in our history, we elected a girl, Anita Pallozzi, to act as class officer. Miss Gray automatically was elected class advisor.

We immediately were called to determine the most momentous question of the year: whether we were going to have a year book or a trip. Opinions on the issue were so evenly balanced that any trivial influence could change the decision one way or the other. This the administration did when it abandoned its neutral stand and came out openly for the annual. In spite of this, the vote was dangerously close. The book was immediately placed under the capable leadership of James Hall (Editor-in-chief) and Frank Carchedi (Business Manager).

There was grave concern over what course the new President would take. Many wondered whether he would embark on narrow-minded and bigoted policies, incompatible with democratic principles. The different groups stood facing each other in hostile readiness waiting for developments. The President astonished all by his broad-mindedness which consequently obliterated party lines. We like to pay tribute to Frank Carchedi for his devotion to tolerant principles.

In our last year, we have continued to hold the spotlight in different fields. Eddy Primavera distinguished himself by being President of the Excelsior Club and Captain of the football team, which was composed mainly of Seniors. In basketball, James Hall and James Caldwell were the pace setters in nearly every game. In the scholastic field, Alberta Dubin occupied the spotlight.

We have concluded our high school career. We look back with just pride over our past accomplishments. We feel certain that our feats have been so remarkable that many of them will be helpful to our successors in their struggles, and that some will be used by them as precedents. Now with sorrowful hearts we leave these portals; and as a last memorable contribution we present Lowellville High School with our year book, "ECHOES."

ALL LOVELY THINGS

All lovely things will have an ending,
All lovely things will fade and die,
And youth, that's now so bravely spending,
Will beg a penny by and by.

Fine Ladies all are soon forgotten,
And goldenrod is dust when dead,
The sweetest flesh and flowers are rotten,
And cobwebs tent the brightest head.

And . . . . .
"With this we write finis
And have but this to say, that
Those who are mentioned
Are but a few;
While these that are missing
Include me and you.
But enough of this thing,
For now we go,
Tomorrow to woods and Pastures new."

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

"Study and pains were no more their care,
Texts were explained by fasting and by prayer."

When we entered the sacred realms of Lowellville High School early in September, we put our first step into the Seventh Grade where we started our business and social occasions under the leadership of Miss Duncan. We struggled through this year and in the following year entered the Eighth Grade. Now with much more enthusiasm, we realized what the idea of high school work was all about. (I wonder). In the Eighth Grade our activities were more or less the social type.

In the Ninth Grade we began to realize that we were here to devour some of the L. H. S. knowledge. In this year the members began to understand how to use politics for becoming officials of the class, which proved to be very successful. We closed the school year by contributing our services toward the buying of the picture machine.

In the Tenth Grade everything was taken over by a new administration. We had several business and social meetings and we ended the year by having a skating party.

Much in the manner in which we had squeezed through our Sophomore year, condescendingly familiar individuals entered high school last September as Juniors. Watching cautiously for stray instructors and at the same time keenly alert for any Freshmen who had wandered indiscreetly from the fold, they strode superciliously into their room. Early in our Junior year we had a very stormy election which successfully turned out to be as follows: Arthur W. DelFraino, President; Charles Allshouse, Vice-President; Edward Novak, Treasurer; Martha Smith, Secretary. Mr. Metzger was automatically made class advisor.

The first part of the year was not very active except that we raffled a turkey which started the foundation of our treasury. In the mid-year we were successful in getting the checking bid at the County Tournament. In adding to the social activiites, a few Junior boys were added to the Excelsior Club and a few Junior girls to the Social Dancing Club.

The Junior Class presented a three act mystery comedy, "Three Points Inn" on May 3, 1940.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The Sophomore class has been steadily decreasing. We decreased from 83 students last year to 72 this year. Perhaps it's like panning for gold, the silt is taken out until only the gold remains. At least we have some very pure gold nuggets in our midst, with "Mars" and "Wild Bill" Ondra high-lighting our end of the football lineup. We believe to have succeeded in placing "Wild Bill" Ondra as "Ginger" Caldwell's successor on the gridiron.

We started out in our high school adventure with the beloved name "Rats" given us by the upperclassmen. In the second year we were called "Jerks"; but now that we have completed the second knot of our voyage and will be addressed as "The Juniors," we not only intend to slam the lower classmen but to give them a good taste of the same medicine we received. (Look out under-classmen).

In the class elections for our Frenshman year, we voted Dan Centofante, President and Mike Shevetz (4′ 8″) Vice-President.

Although we had no financial burden we elected June Krall as Treasurer (in case someone had something extra to donate); Mike Butsko served as secretary and Mr. Demi as our advisor.

For our second voyage we intended to be an able crew and we had the following as our officers: "Smiling" Mike Shevetz, President; "Will Bill" Ondra, Vice President; Samuel LaBarba, Treasurer; Ralph Mathews, Secretary; and Mr. Jones, Advisor. About the only time the Sophomores have a class meeting is when some one's relatives dies and then the treasurer has to pick a fight to collect the money. (He almost committed murder to collect two cents from from each of the 72 members the last time).

We were represented in the inter-mural basketball tournaments by June Krall, Glenrose Grow, Carmela Coppola, Nancy DeLucia, Sarah Fanto, Helen Rotz and Ruth Wild. The following boys represented the Sophomores in the class tournament: Alex Mariotti, Phil Rogers, Bill Ondra, Mike Marzetti, John Hritz, and Ralph Mathews. It took the Seniors to put us out of the tournament finals so (Sophomores) do not let the first trial prove our worth, after all we're only Sophomores.

We expect much from Mariotti, Rogers, Ondra, and Matthews on the Varsity squad next year. (Go to it boys—you've got the makings). We don't want you to hide your light under a bushel; but still don't burn the candle at both ends.

Other gold nuggets in our midst are "power house" Grow and "go-get-um" Fanto; with these two in the lead we know that we will never lack veracity. With William Korby as our ..... representative, June Krall as ring leader, Mary Jane DeLullo as our conservative, and Agnes Schafer as our radical why, what do we lack? Huh! What did you say? Oh yes—it's Gilbert List as our "savant" and Martin Brinsko our "Guardian." Well, we can be well piloted to greater and better ports. Though the storms rage, waters rise, with calms, doldrums, and so forth, though rock sways and delays us, we are faithful to our officers and to the end are most loyal sailors . . . . .

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

In the year 1937 A. D. we entered the Seventh Grade, ignorant as to the procedure to be followed during our next six years. After three months of being ridiculed by upperclassmen, we learned the rules and regulations of this new life; and then we were recognized as "humans" instead of "mice".

During the Eighth Grade we improved a little; but in the eyes of the upperclassmen, we were still considered an annoyance. However, the one thing that increased our spirit was that we were now upperclassmen to the Seventh Graders.

In September 1939, we entered the Ninth Grade, a very great step in our minds. We thought ourselves grown up and very important to the school, but to the rest we were just "Frosh."

During the first month of school we had a class meeting and elected the following class officers: Joe Sherrick, President; Thomas Jones, Vice-President; William Nock, Secretary; and Ormand Donatelli, Treasurer. Mr. Reed was elected as class sponsor.

On the twentieth of August some of our boys decided to see if they could take it, so they reported for football. Some dropped out before the season was over but the following lasted: G. Fiorentino, T. Jones, R. DeLisio, J. Fisher, P. D'Onofrio, S. Coppola, H. Pugh and F. Pallozzi.

After several months of school with no class meetings, some of the most ambitious girls decided that something had to be done. Since Joe would not call a class meeting, there was a movement to impeach him from the office of President. During the debate on the subject Joe resigned, and William Pugh was elected to fill his post.

Before the Freshmen Party, which was held in our honor, not many Freshmen were seen on the streets alone because the upperclassmen had a habit of initiating us.

We had a Christmas Party in December. The nickelodeon was used to furnish the music and refreshments were served. The girls showed their abilities by making the party a success.

Later in the year as basketball season rolled around, quite a few of the boys reported for the Junior High Basketball team. The ones who received jerseys were: G. Fiorentino, R. DeLisio, W. Nock, F. Pallozzi, E. Rogers, T. Jones, P. D'Onofrio, H. Pugh and O. Donatelli.

We went skating in Youngstown with the Seventh and Eighth Grades, and since it was necessary to furnish our own transportation, many Freshmen could be seen on the road to Youngstown with their thumbs out.

Soon we will be finishing our third year in High school and we hope that the following three years will pass as satisfactorily as the first years did.

THE CARD

The day was warm, the hour was late,
But the Editor's work all had to wait;
With nervous steps he paced the floor,
And looked askance at the card he bore . . .
Then suddenly, quickly . . . a timorous rap!
With puzzled expression he answered the tap,
It was a Frosh, with face scared and wet;
"I sent you a joke—did you get it yet?"
The Editor groaned, as he looked at the card . . .
"Not yet," he shrieked . . . " but I'm trying hard!"

EIGHTH GRADE HISTORY

Our Class will soon make a big advancement. We will have passed on, I hope, into the realm of high school. When we came to the Seventh Grade, we thought that we were smarter than other Seventh Grade classes, but we got lost and trampled as the other Seventh Grades. We had a few social activities such as: a Hallowe'en party; and a skating party. As a whole our social activities turned out very well.

Our Seventh Grade class officers were as follows: Jane Nixon. President; Jack O'Neill, Vice-President; Dawn List, Secretary; and Phillip Book, Treasurer.

All of us passed into the Eighth Grade. Two new members came into our class. They were Grace Summers and Bill Mayberry.

Our social activities were the same as the previous year but we raised our financial standing by giving a dance and we are discussing a mid-summer party with the money we made.

Our class officers this year were as follows: Jack O'Neil, President; Helen Young, Vice-President; Dawn List, Secretary; and Joseph Derenzo, Treasurer.

Our class officers performed very well and it looks as though the Class of "44" will be a successful class in the future.

SEVENTH GRADE HISTORY

We, the Seventh Grade, entered high school a group of wide-awake students. To our amazement, we found out that we are taught by the same teachers and are in the same study hall as the upperclassmen. At first we were a big bother to the faculty and the upperclassmen but we soon caught on to the high school way. The first few weeks we were like scurrying rabbits, continually getting under the Seniors' feet and even in their hair, and we take this opportunity to apologize to the Seniors.

At our first class meeting we elected class officers. This was very new to us but we made the best of the occasion and elected the following members to guide us during the year. Edward Centofante, President; Janet Forsythe, Vice-President; Robert Gnagy, Secretary; and Mary Jane Mellinger, Treasurer.

During the year we had a few social activities. We were invited to a Hallowe'en party by the Eighth Grade. We went on a skating party in February which we enjoyed very much.

We are very optimistic as to the future of our class, and we are sure that the class of '45 will be successful.

OWL STAFF HISTORY

After going paperless during the greatest part of the year, the high school renovated the publication of the "Owl," through the efforts of the Excelsior Club.

The paper was put under the leadership of the triumvir from the Senior Class: Frank Carchedi, Editor-in-Chief; Eddy Primavera, Business Manager; and Paul Centofante, Senior Class Reporter. Ed. Galey's relentless service as assistant editor was an essential factor in determining the success of the "Owl."

This year's "Owl" was perhaps more liberal and radical in its views than the papers of previous years. As a result much heated controversy developed. The head members of the paper were accused of being "red" in their principles and unfit to edit a free press. This controversy only increased interest in the paper and the publication of the "Owl" went on without obstruction.

Much credit must be given to our Advisor, Mr. Appelman, for his devotion and interest toward our paper. Although he had the supreme power of censorship, his broad munificence seldom caused him to interfere with our news. Without Mr. Appelman's broad-minded and tactful guidance, the "Owl" could never have been successful.

CLUB HISTORY

Ten years ago, a class of girls, taking Home Economics under Miss Murbach, organized themselves into a club. For the greater part of this time, they have had their laboratory in the portable—planning menus and serving meals. Upon the adoption of the "Six year high school plan," the laboratory was moved into the former manual training room.

Five years ago, at the end of the school term, the members of the club sadly bade farewell to Miss Murbach who became the bride of Mr. James Cragg. Miss Porter very capably took her place.

At the beginning of this year, the following officers were elected: Ida Torella, President; Mary Miletta, Vice-President; Laura Rapone, Secretary; and Julia Conti, Treasurer. A program committe planned the program for each meeting.

The members enjoyed a very delicious Christmas dinner in the laboratory.

In January, the club served noon meals again.

CLUB HISTORY

In the fall of 1928, a group of boys with the help of Mr. Howland, a former high school principal, began to organize the Excelsior Club. This name, meaning onward and upward, is very fitting for this club.

In order to maintain that high standard of which the club is noted, strict entrance requirements are enforced. Only those with high ideals, those who have finished their Freshman year with at least four credits, and those who lead in school activities are even mentioned for initiation.

The purpose of the club is to better the character of its members intellectually, morally, and socially. Our motto, "Clean living, clean speech, clean athletics, and clean scholarship," conforms very well with the purpose of the club.

Among the prominent figures in the club is Joe Marg. His sarcastic wit is very entertaining to the members. Secretary Frank Carchedi uses his persuasive, oratorical eloquence with impassioned plea to sway members in any direction. Paul Centofante steps out of his doldrums only when inspired to make a motion for a social feed, and then falls back into his dormancy. Jay Morris's valiant efforts to adjourn are constantly frustrated by the Scheig-Carchedi combination of dilatory art.

Much of our success is due to the capable leadership of our President, E. Primavera and our Sponsor, Mr. Jones. The President's stout heartedness kept the business meetings going on even when they had reached the point of turmoil; and the Sponsor's liberality towards us filled us with a spirit of confidence and independence.

CLUB HISTORY

Four years ago, the present senior girls, under the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Reed, organized themselves into a club—the Social Dancing Club. They organized for the purpose of instructing the student body in the art of dancing—thus the name. Their classes of instruction succeeded very well in dispelling the stiff atmosphere that prevailed at former dances.

They later purchased a nickelodeon, which they have rented to any high school class or organization at a nominal fee. This greatly reduced the expense for music and thus encouraged dances.

This year, the club was enlarged by the addition of a select group of junior girls. A tea was held in honor of their induction.

Although the club was originally formed for the purpose of teaching students how to conduct themselves in the ballroom, the benefits arising from the organization have far outdistanced the earlier motive. It was up to them to set the example of correct conduct at the socials they sponsored. As hostesses, they felt it their responsibility to set their guests at ease. This they did very successfully.

GLEE CLUB

For the past few years, Mr. Scheig has tried to bring the choral work of the high school up to the same level the Band and Orchestra have reached. This year, the chorus reached that goal, and proved it beyond any doubt by their singing for the county P. T. A. and for the Spring Concert.

A large percentage of the chorus graduates this year, but we are confident that the remaining vocalists will keep the chorus at the same high standard which it now enjoys.

The idea of a Music Club has been taking shape since the latter part of 1939. In January, a meeting was held and officers were elected. This club is still in its infancy, but it is hoped that it will grow and take its place among the other prominent organizations of the school.

BAND

During the past year, the band has held its place as one of the best musical organizations of the school. Twenty-four members, of which only three are seniors, held chairs at rehearsals.

Although these three senior members hold solo chairs, there is no doubt but that the band will be as good, if not better, next year.

The band was probably the most prominent musical organization as far as public appearance. It played at several P. T. A. meetings, at the Spring Concert, and at the County Music Festival at Fitch.

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra, though the smallest of the three musical organizations in the school, had a very successful year. It has made appearances at P. T. A. meetings and at the Spring Concert.

Eight members of the orchestra: Henry Scheig, Jr., trombone; James Forsythe, base tuba; Alice Baird, clarinet; Ruth Scheig, piano; Janet Forsythe, Mary Jane Mellinger, Frank Di Russo, and Paul Scheig, violins, held chairs in the all county orchestra which played at the Spring Festival at Fitch. This county orchestra was made up of the best student musicians in the county. The Festival is an annual affair and each school contributes to the program.

The orchestra is also fortunate in that it will lose only three members through graduation. We know that the other sixteen will carry on the good work.

THE P. S. B. CLUB

Second row:—B. Campbell, W. O'Neill, W. Korby, J. Mehler, Miss Gray.

CLUB HISTORY

The first semester of 1939 proved to be too ordinary for the members of the Sophomore Latin Class. Something had to be done to remedy this situation. To encourage group co-operation, the P. S. B. Club was organized. Miss Gray honored this group by consenting to become their advisor.

William Campbell was elected Pontifex Maximus; as Consul, William Korby received the call; Leon Galey was named Censor; Barbara Davis, Quaestor and the Aediles were June Krall and Jack Mehler.

This organization holds meetings twice each month. After the usual business, the Aediles present reports and plays concerning Roman people.

Thus ends the first chapter in the History of the P. S. B. Club.

CLUB GREGGITE

Second row:—J. Funk, N. Jones, Miss Bauman.

CLUB HISTORY

At the beginning of the year, with the help of Miss Bauman, their advisor, a group of shorthand students formed a club, which they named the Greggite Club. The chief purpose of this club was to become better acquainted with shorthand forms and dictation.

This club, composed of five of the most outstanding advanced shorthand students, met every other Monday—usually at the home of their advisor. These members presided alternately at the meetings.

Because of the size of the club, the girls deemed it best neither to draw up a constitution nor to elect any officers. Since there is no constitution, there were no requirements compelling the regular attendance of the members; however, every member invariably attended the gatherings.

The success of the club is largely due to the willing co-operation of Miss Bauman; for without her assistance, the club could not have succeeded.

FOOTBALL

Lowellville High School football team? Better the Senior Class football team. Seventeen Senior lettermen! The entire first team made up of Seniors! In all our four years of high school, surely football must be the loudest echo of them all. Memories that were made this year will remain forever in the hearts of most of us.

It's interesting to point out the difference between the memories that an ordinary person has of a team and the memories that the players have themselves. The spectator remembers only that which he sees happen in the games. He realizes that Lowellville had a fairly good team and he appreciates the fact that we won games.

The players appreciate it, too, but they appreciate it more, because they were the ones who worked for it and made sacrifices for it. The members of the team are able to look back with pride on the fact that they didn't give up when, after the Canfield game, everyone had lost faith in them. They look back and remember all the hard weeks of practice they went through in order to prove that they had the makings of a good team. And then they look back and view the results of their hard work and recall all of the thrilling moments of the games that will remain with them forever.

They will recall that long breath-taking pass of "Ginger" to "Coonie" that put us in the lead in the Newton Falls game, and that last quarter when they were fighting desperately with their back to the goal line trying to stave off the enemy's aerial attack. They will recall the Hubbard game and how time after time they marched the ball up the field through the strong Hubbard line. It was a powerful team, just discovering its power. They will recall Eddie's great defensive playing in the Bessemer game, "Coonie's" long kicks in the Boardman game. "Ginger's" hard running in all the games, and many others. These are the things that count. Memories that will last; never to be forgotten.

This year's was a good team that won the hard way. Getting off to a poor start, they convinced the town of their ability by coming back and winning, proving that they weren't washed up. They were determined to win that Newton Falls game. Determination can accomplish a lot. They did win from Newton Falls; and not only that, but they kept on winning, ending up with the Inter-Valley Championship!

This year's football team can easily be pictured in the minds of its followers as a machine. A machine, with each part taken individually, meaning nothing, but when the parts are assembled they form a highly efficient smooth running machine that was oiled and fueled by the patience and sincerity of Coach Haines and his assistants, Mr. Reed and Mr. Jones. Here are the parts who taken individually were just high school students but when they were assembled brought to Lowellville High School its second Inter-Valley Championship in three years.

CAPTAIN ED. PRIMAVERA: Tackle, 5′ 10″, 195 lbs., Senior

The man who could be called the generator in our machine was Ed. Primavera. Eddy was the man who generated all the power in the line, hard and furious power. Always keeping the boys playing to the best of their ability, Eddy himself played toughest when the going was roughest. Without him our blue and gold machine would never have been complete. The team made no mistake in choosing him to lead them.

Memory: Eddy in the Boardman game, with his eye cut and bleeding furiously, encouraging the team to stop the determined Boardmanites from scoring.

ROBERT JONES: Center, 5′ 10″, 150 lbs., Senior

One of the most important parts in a machine is the fuel line. In our machine it was Bob Jones. Bob, playing one of the toughest positions on the team was always calm. Jones, who had played guard the previous year, handled the pivot position like a veteran, seldom making a bad pass.

Memory: Stopping the big Struthers backs in the center line on every play.

ED. GALEY: Guard, 5′ 11″, 160 lbs., Senior

The weight of a machine rests on the axle. In our machine the weight of every play rested on "Big Dutch" Galey. Ed, who was a running guard, always opened the hole for our backfield men. Ed paved the way for many spectacular runs. Big and rugged "Big Dutch" performed his duty admirably.

Memory: Ed blocking two Hubbard defensive men enabling our halfback to pick up the much needed yardage.

BENJAMIN TAMBURINO: Fullback, 5′ 8″, 160 lbs., Senior

In our little Blue and Gold machine Benjamin performed the duties of the cylinder, creating power and furnishing an outlet for this power with his line smashing abilities. Having suffered from an injury in his first year of football, Benjamin refused to be dismayed and came back in his Senior year more powerful than ever.

Memory: Hitting the Bessemer line hard and picking up two or three first downs in succession.

"COONIE" DE PAUL: End, 5′ 6″, 130 lbs., Senior

A machine without a distributor to keep it running smoothly and in time is lost. Coonie was vital to our machine for this reason. Always calm and quick thinking "Coonie" always was ready to help his team-mates iron out difficulties. His opponents always found it hard to gain little if any yardage around his end. Coonie also did the punting.

Memory: Coonie kicking behind his goal in order to keep Boardman out of scoring territory.

FRANK CARCHEDI: Tackle, 5′ 5″, 140 lbs., Senior

In every machine an essential part is the starter. Frank started our machine and kept it running smoothly. One of the smallest tackles ever to don a blue and gold uniform, Frank was by no means handicapped by his lack of size. His opponents were always amazed at his speed and stamina. Carchedi's pet aversion was chasing wing backs and bringing them down from behind.

Memory: Frank rushing Newton Falls passers causing them to throw hurried, inaccurate passes.

JAMES CALDWELL: Halfback, 5′ 11″, 175 lbs., Senior

Every machine must have a steering mechanism. Ours was Jim Caldwell. Jim, because of his football ability and knowledge, was called upon by Coach Haines to act as field general and steer us through a tough course. Jim carried his burden well. He never failed to detect and to take advantage of a weakness in the opponent's line. A hard runner and an excellent passer, Jim always had an extra ounce of reserve when it was needed.

Memory: Jim refusing to admit defeat, battering ceaselessly the Canfield line literally smashing it single handed.

"BANANAS" IUDICIANI: Guard, 5′ 5″, 145 lbs., Senior

In a machine the device that produces the spark and the energy is called the battery. Our battery was Venanz. "Bananas" produced the spark and the energy in every game. Always out-weighed but never out-fought, "Bananas" proved to the Lowellville fans that courage means more than size on the gridiron.

Memory: "Bananas" in the Struthers game breaking through on every play and bringing down the runner from behind.

EUGENE CARBONE: Quarterback, 5′ 9″, 145 lbs., Senior

To start a machine a key is very essential. In our machine Eugene Carbone was the key man. On every play Buck caried out his blocks with skillful precesion. Playing his first year as a regular quarterback, "Buck" performed his task like a veteran. He seldom carried the ball but this did not lessen his effectiveness.

Memonry: Carrying the ball twice at Canfield (the first time in his high school career) and making a first down.

SAM DiCIOCCIO: Halfback 5′ 5″, 125 lbs., Senior

The gears in a machine must fit together and work smoothly in a machine. Sam fitted in perfectly as a running mate for Jim Caldwell. A fast starter, Sammie swept his opponents' ends with a speed that amazed them. Sammie always performed his duties as a safety man to the best of his ability.

Memory: Running back Hubbard's kicks to midfield, dodging the opponents ends who were much bigger than he.

PAUL CENTOFANTE, End, 5′ 10″, 145 lbs., Senior

What good is a machine without a bumper? Paul Centofante served not only as a spearhead for the attact, but also as a good means of resistance to any opposition Happy-go-lucky and easy-going most of the time, it was easy to detect when Paul was getting mad! Many a pair of backfield men have found themselves cursing the day of their birth and thinking of going back to learn the fundamentals on blocking ends, again. Paul got as much enjoyment out of smashing through the opposition as he did of eating.

Memory: Paul's submarining in the Hubbard game that proved that bumpers could be made of harder stuff than steel.

In a machine, spare parts often are very essential and necessary. Our reserves never failed Coach Haines when he sent them in to replace a tired or injured player. To such players as Bill Ondra, halfback; John DeMarsh, center; Jack Maloney, end; Joe Marg, tackle; Albert Stefano, halfback; Mike Marzetti, guard; and Domenic Tomasino, halfback; goes a great deal of the credit for a successful season.

BASKETBALL

Basketball soared to dizzy heights in L. H. S. this year when the Lowellville High School basketeers won the Inter-Valley Championship.

They started the season with two impressive victories over Canfield and Poland respectively. They then journeyed to Bessemer where they lost a thrilling game to the Bessemer lads by a 25 to 24 score. Misfortune seemed to dog the Lowellville lads for they lost a three point lead in the last quarter of the McDonald game and ended up two points behind. The boys lost their first inter-valley game to Brookfield on the small Brookfield floor. The boys then defeated Poland the second time just before Christmas vacation by a close score of 30 to 22.

After the Christmas vacation they journeyed up to Struthers and were defeated, but returned home the following night and defeated a strong Scienceville aggregation by a score of 34 to 31. On the following week-end the Lowellville lads were up-set by a cocky bunch of boys from Hubbard but on the next night the local boys evenged an earlier defeat and defeated Bessemer by a 34 to 28 score. This victory started a seven game winning streak.

This seven game winning streak included victories over such teams as Boardman, Scienceville, Hubbard and Brookfield. Then they closed the regular season by losing to Canfield and Springfield.

In the County Tournaments after they had defeated Springfield and Berlin Center, they gained the admiration of the Lowellville fans by scoring 15 points in the closing four minutes of the last quarter to defeat a fast stepping Goshen five. This victory qualified Lowellville to meet Canfield in the finals for the championship.

In the finals they battled on even terms with Canfield for three quarters but in the last quarter Canfield's speed and marksmanship began to tell and the Blue Devils lost 52 to 30.

In the district tournament at McDonald where they entered as runner-up, the Lowellville Cagers defeated Leetonia 35 to 10 but ended the season with a 36 to 32 loss at the hands of Howland.

Much of the praise that goes with such a successful season goes to the Seniors who made up the team. Among these was James Hall and James Caldwell, whose brilliant offensive playing placed them on the All-County team, and also to Venanz Iudiciani, Loyal Milligan, Albert Stefano, Joe Marg and Hugh Boyle.

JIMMY:

Ending up his high school career as co-captain, Jimmy Hall distiguished himself by being on the all-county team three years in succession. Jimmy was handicapped by his size but he made up for it without a doubt in his speed and accuracy. If it were for his great playing in the Goshen game alone, all the praise possible would be justified.

Most of us are looking forward to the day when Westminster College will be presenting Lowellville with a trophy in appreciation for its star player.

"GINGER":

"Ginger," the other co-captain of the team, played a bang-up season. Besides his great playing in the tournaments, everyone will remember his great play in the Brookfield game when he victoriously stopped an overtime period with a spectacular shot. Although ending his high school career, we feel sure that he is just beginning and that some day "Ginger" will be big time in the sports world, bringing honor to his class and school.

"SOUP":

Loyal Milligan will always be remembered for his superb guarding this season. In practically all the games, he had the honor of guarding the toughest man. Not only that but he guarded well, enabling Johnson to take his mind off at least one of the opponents' players. Strange things have happened so we won't be surprised if, when "Soup" is turned loose in June, a Hotel Manager's League will be started in basketball.

"LEFTY":

With all of the good talent leaving each year, one would think that eventually Lowellville would no longer have good teams. This is not true so long as players like Ray Matthews keep coming up. "Lefty" made the first team this year and still has another year to continue his work. Small and clever under the basket, "Lefty" found himself high point man in several games. Everyone is looking for great things from this boy in the future.

GEORGE:

Already a veteran, George Vuletich will also be playing again next year. George, besides having an advantage in his great height is an excellent shot. These two factors are those that all coaches look for and any team that is lucky enough to have such players with them will go places. Thus we have reason to expect great things of next years team.

"BANANAS":

A lot of dynamite wrapped up in a small package is about the best way to describe "Bananas." Showing the scrap that he shows in all sports, "Bananas" proved a great help to the team. Although his height was a handicap in guarding the big boys, he saw plenty of action during the season. "Bananas" will not be back next year and his scrap will be missed a great deal.

"SLIM":

Among all the players, it can be safely said that the most improvement came in Albert Stefano. "Slim" started out the first of the year as a newcomer to the squad. He made the varsity and kept improving as the season progressed. Now at the end of the season, Coach Johnson can proudly point to another big piece of college material.

BUD:

A big factor in determining a good team is it's reserve power. Bud Boyle, although he didn't start all the games, served very reliably as a substitute. Bud has much to be proud of over his great improvement this year. His first year on the varsity, he performed very well, giving the team much that enabled them to go as far as they did.

JOE:

Joe Marg is also leaving school with many memories to remind him of his great work in relief rolls. A favorite with the feminine fans, "Gallopin" Joe contributed much towards the team's success and also provided much enjoyment for himself. Because of the fact that his high school years numbered only three, Joe deprived himself of another year with the team. However, he has accomplished in the three years what many failed to do in four years.

RUDY:

Looking into the future, we also see a great player in Rudy Susany. Having already proven himself a good substitute around the basket, Rudy promises to go further and follow in the footsteps of his brothers. He is one more reason for placing our trust in the success of next year's team.

BASEBALL

Although football and basketball were our major sports, we must not overlook our baseball and track teams.

The baseball team, under the directions of Coach Reed, performed comparatively well in spite of the fact that they were handicapped by a late start and lack of equipment. The batteries, composed of George Vuletich and Rudolph Susany, pitchers; and Benny Tamburino and Ray Altiera catchers, were credited with most of the team's success. The batting ability of Louis DePaul and Jimmy Hall and the defensive skill of Billy Ondra and Phil Rogers were also indispensable to our team's success.

TRACK TEAM

Although track was not an officially established sport, six boys: (S. DiCioccio, J. Morris, C. Altiero, W. Harris, A. Stefano, L. Milligan) reported and represented Lowellville in the Mahoning County Track Meet at Poland.

More than a store . . . Cunningham's is an "institution of learning." Here people are learning that furniture, like jewelry, is apt to be "bought blind" . . . and that there's more to the question than a flashy veneer or an attractive piece of upholstery that conveniently covers up the lack of wearing qualities. If you don't know furniture (and few people do) then KNOW YOUR FURNITURE DEALER. Check up on his reputation for reliability. Find out if his furniture lives up to everything claimed for it. Find out if everything advertised really appears on the floor. Notice whether his prices are too fantastic to be true. And finally, ask someone who has actually purchased there whether the store has stood in back of the sale. We invite you to compare and check.
